MEMORANDUM FOR: DEPUTY DIRECTOR OF CENTRAL INTELLIGENCE

SUBJECT:

Corey Ford's article on General Smith.

- Is I met Ford in Portsmouth, N.H., on the night of 20 November for a discussion of his Ms. He accepted all our major suggestion: and most of the minor; the few he demurred at were so inconsequential that I did not press them. A clean copy of his new draft should reach me temorrow. If you wish, I will send it to you. (Ford his self will be in Washington on the 28th.)
- 2. When I expressed our regret that General Smith was making his debut as DCI in Flair, Ford agreed; he said he had learned that Flair was determined to run an article on the General anyway, so me had taken the commission chiefly to guarantee a sympathetic approach.

3. Ford said further that Anna Rosenberg had promised to inclu-

	t to reprint the article, and he fessed that Kr. Baruch's (as we recommended) might	J 25V4
